A HOWE DAILY.

The Senatorial contest at Madison is enlivened by a small paper published in that city in the interest of Senator Howe. It is edited by Horace Rublee, one of the best political writers in the State, and while it will give Mr. Howe the warmest possible support, it will deal the heaviest blows the editor can make against Mr. Keyes, and his nomination. We have not seen a copy of this Senatorial bulletin, but it is freely circulated without price among the members of the Legislature, and gathering our information from hearsay, it will give no quarters to the Keyes men. What it aims to do is to convince the men who have it in their power to raise a man to the dignity of a United States Senator, that Mr. Keyes is not qualified for the high position. It will deal in matters historical and personal to justify its position, and as Mr. Rublee wields a pretty vigorous pen, and is personally acquainted with the records of the public men of Wisconsin for many years past, it will do much to intensify the interest taken in the Senatorial fight at Madison, and make matters generally lively. This being the line of policy which Senator Howe and his lieutenants have adopted, it is very evident they propose to ask no favors of the Keyes men. The black flag has been raised, and Howe and Rublee seem content to abide by the consequences.

This bold and aggressive campaign on the part of Senator Howe and his friends, and their seeming unrelenting hostility to Postmaster Keyes, will doubtless preclude any compromise between the two candidates. It adds additional interest to the contest, and surrounds the matter with more mystery than ever as to where the Howe men will throw their influence in case he can not secure the nomination That it will not go to Keyes is a moral certainty. Will it be thrown for Carpenter, is the next question? There is a feeling of bitterness existing between the factions, which makes it impossible for the wisest politicians to tell how the strength of the defeated candidates will be transferred. Conjectures on the subject are idle. The caucus next week will furnish some indications as to what the result will be, though it is hardly possible that the first one will decide the question. A nomination cannot be made without a struggle, and it promises to be a bitter one. Should there be a disagreement in the caucus which will make it impossible for either of the three prominent candidates to be nominated, we hope the Republicans will not, in the midst of excitement, nominate a man who would be unworthy the confidence and respect of the party.

The notorious claim of William and Mary College of $65,000, for damages done that institution during the war, was defeated in the House of Representatives on Friday. It had been before Congress for ten years, and was pressed with remarkable vigor by the Confederates and many Northern Democrats. It was defeated, however, by 40 votes, as a number of Democrats from the North voted against it. Conger, of Michigan, made a powerful speech against it, and with his "merciless sarcasm and keen power of analysis, stripped the question of its romance and its traditions, and showed that the ancient William and Mary College, the mother of Presidents, was destroyed long before the war, and that there was no reason why the American Congress should now be called upon to vote $65,000 to that modern nursery of treason.

Congressman Schleicher, of Texas, died in Washington last night after a few days illness. In some respects he was a remarkable man. He had a fine education, exerted considerable influence, and was deeply respected. He was the largest man in the House. One of his great hobbies was the appropriation of sufficient money to complete all the public buildings in the United States, and to issue paper money expressly to pay for the work. He was fifty-five years old.

The annual report of librarian Spofford shows that there are 332,000 bound volumes, and 120,000 pamphlets in the Congressional library at Washington. It is by far the largest library in the United States, but not the greatest in the world. The Royal library at Copenhagen has 500,000 volumes; the British Museum has 1,150,000; the National library in Paris, 2,000,000; and the Imperial at St. Petersburg, 1,100-000.

If anyone wishes to aid the cause of temperance he can do so most effectually by subscribing for and circulating the Appeal, published by Colonel J. A. Watrous, of Fond du Lac, which costs but one dollar a year. Beside being a good temperance paper, it is a good family paper, containing much historical matter pertaining to the State and our public men, which is both interesting and profitable.

Logan has the Republican caucus in Illinois, but the anti-Logan men show symptoms of bolting. Unless the Illinois Republicans want to disgrace themselves and play into the hands of the Democrats, they should not bolt a man like John A. Logan. The Senate needs a few more such men as Logan and Carpenter to face Thurman, Beck, and Ben Hill.

Senator Chaffee, of Colorado, don't seem to belong to the present generation of politicians. He peremptorily refused to allow himself to be a candidate for re-election. This is refreshing. When men will throw up the United States Senatorship, preferring to go home and attend to their own private business, it seems we are entering a new civilization.

Professor Hill, of Colorado, has been nominated for the United States Senate by the Republicans, which is equivalent to an election. It is well enough to have one professor in the Senate. He is not a professor of politics, but a professor of religion, and was formerly a professor of chemistry in Dartmouth College.

The demand for the new silver dollar is rapidly increasing, especially in the West. Men may cry down the "buzzard" dollar, but it seems they will take it when they can get it honestly.

The Republicans of Nevada have renominated John P. Jones for United States Senator.

NEW PUBLICATION.

JOHN LOTHROP MOTLEY. A Memoir. By OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. Boston: Houghton, Osgood & Co., $1.50.

A few months ago at the request of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Oliver Wendell Holmes prepared a biographical sketch of the lamented John Lothrop Motley, the well-known American historian, who was formerly Minister of the United States at both the Court of Austria, and the Court of St. James. With this paper as a basis, Mr. Holmes has prepared a larger biography of Mr. Motley, introducing some controversies into which the society could not feel called to enter, and some details which the narrow limits of the first draft excluded, This is one of the choicest bits of biographical literature that has been published in this country for some time, and so far as book making is concerned, it is one of the handsomest and most attractive little volumes that has been issued from the American press for months. Dr. Holmes says he hopes some one will write a fuller biography of of Mr. Motley, intimating that his own sketch does not do justice to the great historian and diplomatist. But we judge no one will be so foolish as to attempt to improve on what Dr. Holmes has written. It is an admirable book, and is as fascinating as a romance. In the language of the New York Tribune the work may be regarded as a "memorial of personal friendship, dwelling with affectionate enthusiasm on the intimate traits of character which rendered Mr. Motley the object of an almost idolatrous attachment with a large circle, and revealing the private graces and virtues which were never eclipsed amid the splendors of his literary renown." Those who desire to get a just estimate of Motley as a man, a scholar, an historian, and a diplomatist, should not fail to read Holmes's charming book.

DUELS OF THE PAST YEAR.

Men Who Met on the Field of Honor, and What they Quarreled About.

Cincinnati Commercial.

Jan. 12.—At the junction of the A. & G. and S. & C. R. R, three miles from Savannah, between Walter A. Harley, lawyer, and Robert Vishburn, ten paces, Colt's revolvers, Harley killed; cause, politics.

Feb. 3—A. J. Nicolopulo and George Villere fought with swords at Montgomery Station, on N. O. & M. R. R,; Nicolopulo wounded in hand.

Feb. 26—In Charles City county, Va., forty miles from Richmond, Thomas Wilcox and Richard Walker, dispute about lands adjoining, two shots fired and Walker fell; Wilcox slightly wounded in the arm. Both parties were arrested. After the first shot Wilcox said, "Hold on, my pistol is out of order and won't work." "All right; I'm not in a hurry and I'll wait," was his opponent's reply.

July 14.—The Rev. Dr. Wade, Heil, Baptist, and Andrew Scroggins, son-in-law, fought a duel, ten paces, in Rutherford county, N. C.; Scroggins spanked Dr. Heil's daughter, and the latter reproved him. A quarrel and fight ensued, Doctor coming out best. Scroggins challenged, the reverend declined. Scroggins vowed revenge if he poisoned his coffee. The revered was also armed. They met on horseback. Major—"Ha, I've got you now." The reverend—"keep cool." Major—"Ten minutes to say your prayers." The reverend—"Well, sir, I'm ready," drawing Derringer. Major—"And so am I; may the Lord have mercy on us both," and fired, with no effect. The reverend fired and killed Scroggins.

Aug. 1—R. S. Sullsbury and J. S. Iverson, of Augusta, Ga., met on the Carolina side of river, and exchanged shots; nobody hurt.

March 7.—At Panton, near University of Virginia, B. T. Johnson, Jr., and Mr. Cockrell fought with bowie knives; Cockrell called Johnson a liar over a game of billiards; the young men were aged about 22; neither party hurt.

March 28.—At Eastville, Virginia, Sidney Pitts and A. P. Thomas fought with pistols, to settle a quarrel about $20, two rounds at six feet apart. Pitts was killed, and Thomas fatally wounded.

July 4.—On Luxembourg frontier, Jorres Cacedo, Minister to Belgium from San Salvador, and Medira, Minister from Guatemala. Cacedo wounded in shoulder. Dr. William Aubery and Adolph Flummer. Colt's six-shooting pistols. Near Latonia Springs, Kentucky; one shot. Dr. Aubery wounded in foot. Quarrell about a lady; fifteen paces.

Sept. 14.—John Riley and an unknown man, at Catholic Cemetery, San Francisco, ten paces and advance; Riley wounded; refuses to tell.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A duel with pistols between M. Gambetta and M. de Fourtou, arising out of the passage in the Chamber of Deputies on the 18th inst., when the latter was unseated, was fought to-day at Plesses Picquet. They fought at thirty-five paces. Only one exchange of shots was had, and neither party was hurt.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Jan. 2.—A duel was fought last Monday night near Bishopville, the principals being Mr. Cautey, of Camden, and Mr. Cash, of Cash's Depot. Two shots were exchanged without effect..

The majority of Wall Strees houses and men are as honest as their neighbors, and many of them have a world wide reputation for soundness and honesty. The old house of Alex. Frothingham & Co., brokers, 12 Wall Street, New York, is entitled to absolute confidence. They state that an investment of about $100 made recently returned over $1,000 in less than sixty days. CINCINNATI, Jan. 11.—Great floods continue in the Kanawha, and Big Sandy, which are swelling the Ohio rapidly, and the ice-jam is expected here to-night. Already many crafts have been sunk, and great damage to other property has been inflicted.

SCHLEICHER DEAD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Representative Gustave Schleicher, of Texas, died last night at seven o'clock. This makes seven members of Congress who have died within the past twelve months. He was afflicted with pneumonia and erysipelas, and the best medical men in Washington could not relieve him. The death of Mr. Schleicher is a serious loss to the House, as he was one of its ablest members. He came here first as a member of the Forty-fourth Congress utterly unknown, but very quickly attracted attention as a man of a singularly clear head and sound ideas in finance and other subjects, and though he was modest and unobtrusive in the House, and had against him a somewhat unwieldy body, being, next to Senator Davis, of Illinois, the heaviest man in Congress, he rapidly gained in respect and influence which placed him among the leading men, and made his opinions valued by the best men on both sides. He was a German by birth, and a university-bred man, civil engineer by profession, and had been engaged on several European railroads before he went to Texas, in the year 1847. He lived many years on the Texan frontier, and represenented the border district in Congress.

THE CABINET.

The Meeting Yesterday—The Secretary Reports the Sale of $40,000,000 of Four Per Cents.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Cabinet session was brief to-day. Mr. Key having returned from Albany last night, all the members were present. Secretary Sherman exhibited a statement showing the daily sales of 4 per cents. since January 1, the total amounting to over $40,000,000. This immense sale was commented upon as extraordinary, going beyond the expectations of every member of the official family. It was suggested to Secretary Sherman that perhaps these bonds were selling too fast, but he thought not, for no matter how rapid the sale, 6 per cents would be called equally fast. The success of resumption was referred to, and regarded as permanent. A statement from the Treasury shows that twice as much gold has been paid in as has been called for in the process of resumption. Secretary Sherman remarked that he wished there was more demand for gold.

The Berlin mission was not mentioned. The President says he is in no special hurry to fill it. He desires time to look over the ground.

SHERIDAN'S OPINION.

He Expresses Himself on the Burnside Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—General Sheridan has addressed a letter to General Sherman on the Burnside army bill. He says: "I have carefully examined it and give to that portion which covers the general administration of the army my hearty approval. It defines the duty of the Secretary of War and the General of the Army, and can any candid man object to what should be an expression of duties which belong to each. The supreme power of the Secretary is acknowledged, and the whole system of army administration is made homogeneous throughout. Heads of bureaus lose individuality which I think should not be claimed by any officers holding a commission and subject to army discipline. As to the reorganization of the army under the bill I can not give it my cordial support. I think the present organization good and well suited to our western frontier. I think it unfortunate to diminish the cavalry strength. What is wanted is to give the present regiments more solidness. The bill bears the heaviest on the line, where no loss is sustained by the staff department, except changing of duties. The staff should be cut down to the figure in the bill. It would be best if it could be done by stopping promotion in the lower grades or by retirement, or both. The General closes his letter by saying he does not like to see the number of general officers diminished, and thinks aspiring young colonels should not be cut off.

FOREIGN.

The Great Storm in Great Britain and on the Continent.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—There has been little abatement of the storm during the past twenty-four hours. To-day's report from Aberdeen says the snow began to fall at midnight, and has continued ever since At short intervals a fierce southeasterly gale springs up, which threatens to demolish everything which lies in its way. The sea is tremendously high along the coasts, and there is fear that disasters will be found to have occurred after the tempest subsides. There is a total suspension of communication by rail between Aberdeen and the North on account of the heavy snowdrifts.

At Dundee there have been very heavy snow and sleet showers, accompanied by a southeasterly gale. The snowdrifts are the largest seen in many years. Communication has been entirely cut off between the mainland and Lewis.

On the Thames travel had to be entirely suspended. Ice is coming down the river in such quantities as to render navigation perilous.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The storm has not decreased, the wind being strong as when the disturbance arrived on our coast. Traffic on all railroads has been suspended. The blockading of tracks by snow has inconvenienced business people throughout the country, there being no way of reaching large business centers other than by rail. The British bark, from New York for Bayonne, for several days off the coast at Bayonne, not being able to make port, has just arrived at Sacoa Roads, having had to put into the nearest shelter in order to save the ship and crew.

WAR CLAIMS.

The William and Mary College Bill for $65,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The claim of $65,000 for the destruction of William and Mary College in Virginia during the war was up in the House again to-day, and was killed. This claim was presented ten years ago, and has been before every Congress since, with varying luck, but never got through both branches of the same Congress. Over one hundred and thirty set speeches have been made about this claim, and it is computed that the cost of the debate and the printing of speeches would alone pay the claim.

FAILURE.

A Fond du Lac Merchant Fails to Meet His $30,000 Liabilities.

FOND DU LAC, Jan. 10—E. B. Hunting, a prominent dealer in white and fancy goods, has had his stock attached by officers from the sheriff's headquarters. In short, Mr. Hunting has failed and his Chicago creditors are after him. It is estimated his liabilities will amount to about $30,000, and his assets would be liberally invoiced at $9,000.

STABBING AFFRAY.

FOND DU LAC, Jan 10.—On Wednesday night during a row which originated in a saloon and culminated in a street in Princeton, a man who has some aliases but gave his name as Joe Stolp, of Wausau, where he claimed to own a saloon, was seriously stabbed about the head by a farmer whose name I am informed is Kean. Stolp is said to bear a hard name where he is known. Kean, who lives about three miles from Princeton, went home after the affray which occurred at a late hour of the night, got something to eat from his wife, left and has not been heard from since. Officers are after him.

COMMUTATION.

MARIETTA, Ga., Jan. 10—The Governor this morning commuted the death-sentence of George Brown to imprisonment for life. A very large delegation from Marietta waited on him and introduced new testimony, which changed the face of things. They impeached the veracity of Mrs. Jenkinson, on whose statement Brown was convicted. There was great excitement over the case, and deep rejoicing at the Governor's decision. The town was thronged with visitors to see the hanging. To the very last Brown stubbornly refused to tell anything of his history.

THE TOBACCO TAX.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10—The Senate Committee on Finance to-day heard General Raum, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in opposition to the pending House bill on the reduction of the tobacco tax. He asserted that the enactment of the bill would cause an annual loss to the revenue of not less than $9,000,000 in receipts from the taxation on tobacco, and of at least $2,000,000 in the revenue from cigars.

THE HOWARDS.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—The Howard Association report for 1878 has been competed. It shows receipts from all sources $383,449; disbursements, $380,183, of which $287,850 was expended in New Orleans, and the balance for relief in other infected places. Twenty-one thousand two hundred and forty-four patients were relieved, 16,112 of whom were white and 5,132 colored.

Shoeing Horses.

We have published several articles on this subject, wishing our readers to read the views of different gentlemen, but without giving our own. Our practice always was to shoe as little as possible, and in this we no doubt will have the support of every horse owner. As to the feasibility of not shoeing at all however, we are not perfectly convinced. The Boston Journal contains the following on the subject which we publish for what it is worth:

The slipping of horses on the asphalt pavement in London, has given rise to some discussion as to the proper form of shoes, whereupon a writer in the Times comes forward with the recommendation that no horse shoes at all be used! He says he has constantly dispensed with them since 1852, adding:

"I have owned over two hundred animals at one time, dedicated to all manner of purposes, draught, saddle and pack, and not one of them shod. Some one will say that they worked over grass or sand. They did not, but over the roughest roads imaginable, in places excessively bad, and in others as disagreeably soft and heavy." He gives his experience in Brazil, where pack horses, without being shod, travel journeys of over eight hundred miles. Unshod horses are also used in Brazilian cities without slipping on the pavement. Of course, says the writer, if an owner were to pull off his horses shoes and at once ride him a long distance, he would find his horse go tender on all his feet; but were he to use him gently for a fortnight, and gradually let him feel his feet, keeping the edges of the hoof slightly rounded off with a rasp to prevent the ravelling up of the edges of a hoof, for the first time since colthood brought naked to the ground, he would be agreeably surprised. Occasional paring will always be needed, but the frog should not be cut. The writer thus anticipates an objection which will occur to many readers: "Some one will be likely to say that draught horses have to dig their toes into the ground to start a load. Of course they have when they are shod. But the unshod horse starts with the flat of his foot, which affords him a much larger and more holding surface, more holding because it is tougher and rougher than a bright shoe."

Our Tenure of Life

Depends in great measure upon our regard for or neglect of the laws of health. If we violate them we cannot expect to "make old bones." But that the span of existence allotted to a naturally delicate constitution, or one which has been shaken by disease may be materially lengthened, is a fact of which we have daily proof. The vivifying and restorative influence of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters upon a failing physique affords a striking illustration of the power of judicious medication to strengthen the hold on life. Restored digestion, complete assimilation, renewed appetite, sound repose, these are among the benefits conferred upon the debilitated by that supreme renovant. With a circulation enriched, a frame invigorated, and a nervous system tranquilized, the invalid, after a course of the Bitters, feels that his life-tenure is no longer the precarious thing that it was—that he may yet enjoy a "green old age."

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1879.

Facts About 165,000 Dead.

From the New York Sun.

The effect of the different occupations on the average health and length of life of those engaged in them is always an interesting study. In what trades and professions are the conditions such as to conduce to longevity, and in what ones are they of a sort to shorten the years of those who pursue them?

During the thirty-four years and eight months from May 1, 1843, to December 31, 1877, there died in the State of Massachusetts 161,801 men of over 30 years of age, whose occupations were specified in the registry of their disease. The average age at which they died was about 51 years. The number is so great and the period covered so long that, by the study of the classification of the employments of those dead, we can get a fair idea of the comparative ages at which men in different occupations, and in an ordinarily healthy community, are swept away by death.

Of all who died, the farmers or cultivators of the earth, attained the highest average age, about 65½ years, and they made up more than a fifth of the total number. It is obvious that farmers, as a class, not only in this country, but in others also, should live to a ripe age. Though their work is hard at some seasons, it is rarely driving labor of the kind to exhaust both nervous and muscular strength, and it keeps them in the open air. They are usually free from the cares and anxieties about making a living which harass men living in cities, and they pass through life at a steady, even jog, so that, though many of them have a wretched diet, they are not carried to the graveyard until their heads are gray.

Another thing which contributes to the long lives of Massachusetts farmers especially is the strict temperance of the great part of them, so far as alcoholic beverages are concerned. In the old days a good peal of Medford rum was consumed in the agricultural counties of Massachusetts and other New England States. A barrel of that seductive drink was always on tap at the country store, and when he laid in his sugar and tea he was likely to fill up his rum jug also, but now-a-days hard cider is the strongest drink in which the majority of the farmers indulge. We must, however, bear in mind that the farming population of New England and most of our more thickly settled Northern States comprise just that class of population which is naturally adapted to long life. The adventurous spirits, the enterprising, the weaklings, and the dissipated are not only averse to agricultural pursuits, and so make haste to leave the farm behind them, but they are also ill-fitted to stand the rough labor and the monotony of farm life. As a consequence, those who remain to till the soil are a selected lot of men who fit into the groove made for them; and that helps to prolong their year.

The class next to the farmers in the average of life is that called "active mechanics abroad," such as brickmakers carpenters, masons, tanners, millwrights riggers, calkers, slaters, and stonecutters; but the average age of the 12,000 of them who died in Massachusetts during the period mentioned was much below that of the farmers. It was only about 52¾ years, a little over a year more, than the average age of all the classes together. Of all these out-door trades the ship carpenters showed the highest age—more than 59—and the slaters, who pursued a dangerous calling, the lowest—about 40. The average age of all the others of these trades, except the stonecutters and the brick-makers, was about 51, and above the average of all the classes.

Next to the active mechanics abroad come the professional men, whose average age at death was over 51. Of this class the longest lived were the Judges and Justices, proverbially celebrated for their great years. They lived on the average to about 64¼ years, and led all the trades and professions in the matter of longevity, except the farmers, over 65, and those denominated as gentlemen, 68, the highest average age attained by any of the classes. The deaths in only six different occupations were at an age on an average above 60. They were, first, the gentlemen, 68; second, the farmers, 65; third, the Judges, 64; fourth, the lighthouse keepers, nearly 63; fifth, the basket makers, 61; and sixth, the pilots, over 60.

Clergymen are the longest-lived men in some countries, but in Massachusetts they fell below all these six classes, the average age of the 1,100 of them who died during the thirty-four years being only a little above 59. Of the professional men these set down as students died at the earliest age, the average being only about 23. Next to the ministers came the professors, well over 57 years; the lawyers, about 56 years; then the physicians, over 55 years; then the public officers, about 55. Sheriffs, constables, and policemen died at the average age of 53, while editors and reporters, harassed with the duty of supplying the public with opinions and information, were gathered into the tomb before they had completed their 47th year. The lives of comedians were also short, hardly reaching 39 years on the average, and dentists, for what reason we know not, were cut down at an average age of 42. The artists also died early, their average age being 44 years. The musicians lived only 42, and the teachers died at about the same age on the average.

In the matter of longevity the merchants, financiers, agents and clerks come next after the professional men and one of the classes included under this head, that of gentlemen, exceeds all others in its average age, over 68 years. The bankers, who lived on the average to more than 59 years, were the next-longest lived of this class, and then came bank officers, nearly 56; merchants, over 54; booksellers, about 53; manufacturers, 52; and innkeepers and brokers, each 50 years. The shortest lived of their class were the telegraphers, who died at the average age of 28. Clerks and bookkeepers are also succumbed early, dying at a little short of 36. Railroad agents and conductors depart this life on the average at about 40 years, while saloon and restaurant keepers were laid away at 41.

The classes whose years at death stood next in order were the active mechanics in shops and the laborers, of no special trades, the average of both being a little short of 48. Of the first class the longest lived were the coopers, their average age at death being about 59. Next to them, the total abstinence people may be surprised to learn, came the distillers, 58 years. The following died at an age above the average for all the classes together.

	Years.		Years.
Millers	57	Potters	55
Ropemakers	57	Hatters	54
Wheelwrights	57	Blacksmiths	53
Clothiers	56	Calico printers	52
Pump and blockmkrs.	56	Woodturners	52
Tallow chandlers	56

The shortest-lived were the plumbers, whose average age at death was only 35½ years. The trades in which the deaths were, on the average, under 40 years were the pail and tub makers, 36; glass blowers and makers and upholsterers, 38; cooks and trunk makers, 39. The average age of the laborers was nearly 48; of servants, 39; of stevedores, 53; and of watchmen, 50; while the workmen in powder mills died, on the average, at 38.

Next come those employed on the ocean, of whom there are many among the living population of Massachusetts. Their average at death was about 47 years; the fishermen dying at 42, the pilots at 60, and the seamen at 47. Following these are the inactive mechanics in shops, whose average age at death was 44. They comprised members of such trades as those of barbers, bookbinders, printers, and tailors. The longest lived were the basketmakers, 61 years, and the shortest lived the carvers, 35 years. Printers, barbers and cigar makers also died under 40, on the average; and the sailmakers, and clock and watch makers, lived to the average age of 53 years and 52 years respectively. The tobacconists got up to 50 years, and the tailors and harnessmakers to 48 years. The class whose deaths took place at the lowest age were those set down as factors laboring abroad, such as baggage masters, brakemen, butchers, engineers and firemen, soldiers, and the like. There average of life was only 37 years, and of all, the brakemen were cut off the earliest, at a little past 26. The longest-lived were the light-house keepers, who are so often superannuated men, and who died on the average at the comparatively ripe years of about 63. Next to them came the weighers and gaugers, and the sextons at 59; the drovers at 55; the ferrymen, usually pretty long lived, at 53; the wharfingers at 51, and the butchers at about the same age. Next to the brakemen, those who lived the fewest years were the soldiers, 28; the chimney sweepers, 34; the baggage masters, 35, and the engineers and firemen, 38. The peddlers attained, on the average, 46 years, the expressmen, 42, and the teamsters, 40.

Summing up all these statistics, we find that during the last thirty-four years the longest lived men in Massachusetts have been the gentlemen, so called, the men of wealth and leisure, who have lived on the average to the fine old age of 68; and the shortest lived have been brakemen, pursuing an exceedingly dangerous occupation, 26 years; if we except the students young men preparing for a profession, who died on the average at about 23 years.

The death of about 4,000 females, employed as domestics, in shops, in factories, and elsewhere, took place at the average age of 39 years. The longest lived were the nurses, 62 years, and the shortest lived the telegraphers, 24 years. The domestics average 45 years; the dressmakers, 43; the milliners, 39; the operatives, 28; the seamstresses, 46; the tailoresses, 49; the teachers, 32; and the shoe-binders, 41 years.

Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

ST. NICHOLAS,

Scribner's Illustrated Magazine.

For Girls and Boys.

An Ideal Children's Magazine.

Messrs. SCRIBNER & Co, in 1873, began the publication of ST. NICHOLAS, an Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of OVER 50,000 COPIES.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideas of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day ST. NICHOLAS stands

ALONE IN THE WORLD OF BOOKS.

The New York Tribune has said of it: "ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

Good Things for 1878-9.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A JOLLY FELLOWSHIP,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume.—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"HALF A DOZEN HOUSEKEEPERS"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy-tale called

"RUMPTY BUDGET'S TOWER."

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of ST. NICHOLAS, the editor preserves a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and lore of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter-box," and "Riddle-box."

Terms, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a Number.

Subscriptions received by the Publisher of this Paper, and by all Booksellers and Postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers should write name, Post-office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter to

FARM NOTES.

The Wisconsin Sheep Breeder's Association will hold its annual meeting at Whitewater, Wis., January 21.

A Pennsylvania man has ground out and stuffed a sausage 17 feet and 6 inches long. Who ever sausage a sausage?

Did it ever occur to you that 7,000 persons are annually kerosened in the United States? It is a fact nevertheless.

In spite of the present distress in England, it is said, that in the matter of wages the agricultural laborer is better off than he ever was before, if prices are taken into the account.

G. W. Bittinger, of Plymouth, Indiana, recently killed two Chester White pigs, twelve months and twelve days old that weighed when dressed, 630 and 762 pounds. And it wasn't a very good year for hogs in Indiana either.

The State Grange of Iowa has reduced the salary of the secretary from $1,500 to $150, with the privilege of removing the office wherever he may see fit. The master's salary is reduced to $100, and the treasurer's to $25.

Sugar refiners, it is alleged, by the use of gincose, make a clean gain of $15.72 on every hogshead of sugar they refine, three-fifths of which amount comes from the Government, and two-fifths from the purchaser, who thinks he is buying sugar.

For the encouragement of agriculture Massachusetts during last year expended the following sums: Bounties to agricultural societies, $17,000.00; printing annual reports of the secretary of the board of agriculture, $12,000; salaries and expenses of the secretary's department, 4,533 45; inspection of commercial fertilizers, $1,088. 25; traveling expenses of the board of agriculture, $965.72.

Within the past year the oldest cow, probably, in New England, has been fatted and sold for beef. She was owned by E. L. Metcalf, of Franklin, Mass., and on the day of her sale was within eleven days of being twenty-eight years old. She was a Jersey, and was giving four quarts of good, rich milk per day. Had given birth to but one bull calf, and all her heifers, with one exception, had been raised by Mr. Metcalf or his neighbors. The last five years she gave milk constantly without breeding.

A contemporary says: "There is no reason why farming may not be made to pay much oftener than it does. Very few have learned to regard it as a business. It is a sort of chance work all around. Most men look on it as a sort of real estate transaction. They hope one day to sell out at a big figure, hence are afraid to improve their farms with a view to agricultural operations, for fear that whoever buys the land will not care for these little things. We have often heard some improving farmer ridiculed for his expenditures by some knowing ones, who were very sure so-and-so would get no more for his place than if he had thrown the money in the dirt.

Selecting Breeding Turkeys.

While all breeders, says the Poultry Journal, like to have and breed "heavy weights," and customers buying turkeys, all call for large birds, it is a fact that for market purposes, moderate sized and even small turkeys, command a more ready sale than do large ones. We have watched the market for a few days past, and know this to be a fact. However, we do not wish to discourage breeders from running up the weights, even if they attain the much devoted weight of a fifty pound gobbler at three or four years old, for as long as there is a lively demand among breeders for heavy birds, let there be birds to supply that demand. To secure the best results in that direction, select an early hatched, strong and vigorous gobbler of this year's hatch, and which is of fine proportion, long in the body and properly marked, and mate him to as many two-year-old hens as you intend to keep—from two to five hens, if properly handled, will produce a fine crop of young birds each season, and you cannot help but be absolutely satisfied with the results.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

FOR 1879.

Established 1851.

The position of the foremost Republican newspaper in the United States will be sustained by THE NEW YORK TIMES by the same policy in virtue of which that position has been attained.

THE TIMES will continue to place fidelity to the interests of the Republican Party above the pursuit of personal aims or private ambition, and will steadfastly insist that the usefulness of any party must be measured by the extent of its devotion to the honor and welfare of the country. In the future, as in the past, the attitude of THE TIMES will be that of independence within the Republican Party. The maintenance of the national credit; the purification of the public service; the advocacy of all seasonable projects of fiscal reform; rigid economy in public expenditures; opposition to subsidies and corporate jobbery in all its forms, and the preservation of equal rights to all citizens, North and South, will be the salient points of the policy of THE TIMES.

THE TIMES will continue to be distinguished as an enterprising, accurate, and carefully edited newspaper. The acknowledged excellence and fulness of its correspondence by mail and telegraph, from all parts of the world, will be adequately maintained, and its facilities for collecting domestic and foreign news will be expanded to meet the increasing demands of our time.

In the sphere of literary and artistic criticism, of scientific, social, and general discussion, THE TIMES will address itself, as heretofore, to the appreciation of the educated and intelligent classes of the American people. It will be lively without being sensational, aggressive without being coarse; at all times it will strive to be fearless and independent in the championship of the right. No theories subversive of the principles on which the sacredness of family ties, and the existence of society alike repose will be promulgated in its columns.

THE TIMES rejects all advertisements of lotteries, of quacks and medical pretenders, and of all other agencies by which the insidious poison of vice is disseminated throughout society. It will be in the future, as in the past, a newspaper especially adapted for family reading.

THE WEEKLY TIMES, containing selected editorials on topics of national and general interest from the columns of the daily issue, as well as a concise summary of political, social, and foreign news, besides other features which recommend it to all classes of readers, is a paper admirably fitted to circulate in every portion of the United States. It will be the aim of its conductors to use every means, not only to maintain its well-earned supremacy, but to make its popularity still more decided.

This important work, a collection of the best and brightest gems to be found in the whole field of English poetry, was begun in the fall of 1871, and contains 1245 poems by over 400 authors, English and American.

It has been the aim of the editor to present a comprehensive collection—an ENCYCLOPEDIA—of the poetry of the English language, one that will be a welcome companion at every FIRESIDE. Each poem has been given complete, and great care has been taken to follow the most authentic and approved editions of the respective authors. Nearly all the longer minor poems that have become classic will be found in this volume; among which may be mentioned Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, Comus, and Lycidas; Goldsmith's Deserted Village, and The Traveller; Coleridge's Christabel, and Rime of the Ancient Mariner; Pope's Rape of the Lock, Keats' Eve of St. Agnes, Campbell's O'Connor's Child, Shelley's Adonais, Mrs Southey's Young Gray Head, Macaulay's Horatius, Aytoun's Edinburgh after Flodden, Drake's Culprit Fay, Thackeray's Chronicle of the Drum, and Mrs Browning's Lady Geraldine's Courtship, while in the shorter poems, Shakespeare is represented by 31 selections, Burns by 23, Scott by 19, Wordsworth by 29, Herrick by 14, Hood by 18, Tennyson by 24, Moore by 24, Coleridge by 13, Byron by 16, Shelley by 18, Longfellow by 15, Whittier by 13, Mrs Browning by 14, Campbell by 13, Southey by 13 and others according to their respective merits.

Here will be found the most important poems by prominent authors, besides other poems of note and popularity, all carefully arranged under headings, according to the subjects, thus enabling the reader to see at once all the pieces of any particular character that he may desire.

The selection has been pronounced, by many of our most prominent literary men, one of the best and most complete ever made. The work is furnished with an alphabetical index of the names of the poems, an index of authors and also one of first lines, thus making the means of reference more thorough than in any other work of the kind. Explanatory and corroborative notes have been appended to the volume, and add greatly to its value.

The book makes a very handsome octavo of 1040 pages, printed from new type on fine paper, is illustrated by fourteen engravings on steel, and is beautifully bound. Both in contents and in manufacture this is one of the finest specimens of bookmaking ever produced in this country.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1879.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Not so cold.

—Make ready for Sunday.

—The boys can't skate across the bridge now.

—Get around the Round Table to-night.

—Attorney William Smith's little girl is quite sick, having congestion of the lungs.

—The school teachers met this morning and received instructions for the term which opens Monday.

—The ladies this afternoon at All Souls church talked over "Lowell." Mrs. S. C. Ll. Jones took the lead.

—Mrs. Rev. F. L. Chapell has been quite seriously ill for several days, and her many friends are quite anxious about her.

—Father Randall who lives on Madison street, is quite ill, as is also his wife. Both are quite advanced in years, and very feeble.

—The Red Hussars went to Monroe to-day, to give a concert there to-morrow evening, and will return Monday for the concert here that evening.

—Mr. Sewell, of Milwaukee, son of Rev. H. Sewell, who has been visiting his parents here for a week past, will return to Milwaukee next Monday.

—Last night one of the chimneys of C. B. Conrad's residence sent forth a blaze, which called several citizens thither, but there was no alarm tapped on the bells, and no need of engines.

—E. M. Hyzer, R. D. Whitford and Miss Angie King have applied for admission to the Bar, and have been duly examined. The committee will probably make their report next Monday.

—The Mutual Improvement Club will meet Monday night to study George Elliot. Papers will be given by Rev. Mr. Jones, Mr. C. A. Stearns, and Miss Mary Godden, and a sketch of Thomas Young by G. F. Selleck.

—The Temple of Honor at their meeting last evening decided to give a series of socials this season, for the purpose of strengthening the ties of frendship, and increasing the acquaintanceship of the members.

—To-morrow night the "boss" red-ribbonist, Dr. Henry A. Reynolds will give an address at the Congregational church. The simple announcement of the fact will doubtless be enough to assure for him a crowded house.

—The ice harvest has been an abundant one this season, and already the houses of Watson and Fitzgerald are packed full with as clear, crystal ice as ever a winter produced. It will be better appreciated next summer, when the mercury climbs up on a step-ladder.

—There will be revival meetings held every evening during the coming week at the First Methodist church commencing at 7 o'clock with a prayer service. Preaching at 7:30 o'clock. All who are interested in this work, and are not engaged elsewhere, are cordially invited to attend.

—The Round Table to-night will make a study of "Hamlet." Papers will be given by Henry S. Hudson, Rev. J. W. Sanderson, Rev. T. P. Sawin, Rev. T. W. MacLean, Mr. J. S. VanCleve, Mr. Horace McElroy, and E. M. Hyzer. The exercises will commence sharply at 7:45.

MRS. ABBY SAGE RICHARDSON.

This accomplished writer and lecturer is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jenk. Ll. Jones. She attended the meeting of Ladies Saturday Afternoon, this afternoon, and will speak at All Souls church to-morrow evening on "The Uses of Adversity." The church ought to be filled to hear such an accomplished woman.

THE SNELL CASE.

The case of the State vs. James Snell is still occupying the attention of Justice Balch. The witnesses for the defense numbering thirty or more, are being ground through the mill at a very rapid rate. The attempt of the defense seems to be to show that the previous character of the chief complaining witness was such as to lessen the likelihood of any such crime having been committed against her. The State does very little cross-examining of these witnesses for the defense, indicating that they do not think the evidence thus produced is of very great value. The examination will not be finished probably before the middle of next week.

HUNTING WOLVES.

At the last meeting of the County Board there was a change made in the bounties offered for wolf scalps. Heretofore the county has given $15 for wolves killed during the winter months and $5 for those killed during the summer. The Board has changed this by cutting down the bounty on wolves killed in the winter to $10. Since the last of April 1878, there has been killed in this county 26 wolves, for which the county has paid a bounty of $180, and the State has added $5 each making $130 more, so that the wolf hunters have been rewarded by $310. There are still many wolves, who are at large waiting to be slain.

THE HUSSARS' CONCERT.

The concert given last evening by the Red Hussars at the Opera House more than met the expectations of those who enjoyed the musical feast. The orchestral rendition of several of the pieces was as fine as was ever listened to by a Janesville audience. The overture to Orpheus was grand, and the "Shaare Wachte" took the audience by storm. The other pieces on the programme called forth hearty applause and the soloists were rewarded with well-merited encores. Fox gave a flute solo, in praise of which too much cannot be said. Herr Hennig, as a violin soloist, is also capable of furnishing a rich evening's entertainment of himself, and the cornet soloist, Prasser, is of high musical rank. Among the audience were many of our professional musicians, and close critics, and they join in high praise of the whole entertainment. The Band has decided to appear again at the Opera house next Monday evening, and have placed the tickets at the low rate of twenty-five cents each, with no extra charge for reserved seats. The sale of seats will commence Monday morning, and care should be taken to secure seats at an early hour as there will doubtless be a crowd. The Band is an extraordinarily fine one, and none should miss the opportunity of hearing them. There will be an entire change of programme, with the exception of two pieces which will be repeated by request.

"PARKER" IS DEAD.

The Oldest Performing Lion in the Country is no More—A Sketch of His Life.

"Parker" is dead. The old lion, who season after season, has been gazed upon by hundreds and thousands who have crowded to see Burr Robbins' circus and menagerie, is no more. Yesterday afternoon he breathed his last, old age and its infirmities having weakened him so that death had an easy victory over him. He was a very large animal and was among the first performing lions ever exhibited in this country. He was among the first ever tamed by Crocket, who conceived the idea that lions could be made to submit to the rule of man, an idea which was sneered at by even his friends. Crocket however insisted on making the trial, and in spite of the warnings of friends entered the cage occupied by "Parker," and other lions. "Parker" pounced upon him and a fierce struggle ensued, but Crocket came forth as conquerer. The lion got his revenge on man, however, and in 1862 he broke from his cage in Astley's amphitheater in London, where he was on exhibition, and pouncing upon Jarvey, who was Crocket's assistant, seized the poor man's throat with his fangs, and sucked the life blood from his victim. Not content with having killed his keeper, he tossed his limp and lifeless body to and fro, as a cat would a dead mouse. When Crocket appeared on the scene "Parker" was still infuriated by the taste of human blood and a fierce struggle ensued. Crocket procured blankets and saturating them with spirits, fastened them to long poles and set fire to them. By thrusting these hot flames into the very face of the wild lion, the animal was frightened and made to skulk back into his cell where he was secured. "Parker" was afterwards safely housed in the Zoological Garden at London, where he was visited by hundreds. The lion was brought to this country in 1863 in connection with the European circus, and at the sale of that concern in 1872 was purchased by Mr. Robbins, who has owned him since. "Parker" has felt the infirmities of age for some months, and it has been with some difficulty, toward the last of the season, that he could mount the cage, on top of which he was always posed during the street parades. For the past few weeks he has grown feebler, and though his appetite kept good, the food did not seem to strengthen him, and worn out he at last closed his record.

THE BOWER CITY BAND.

The concert to be given by the Bower City Band next Tuesday promises to be the best annual entertainment yet given by them, which is saying much, when the high order of the previous concert is called to mind. The Band is really a credit to the city as well as a great convenience, and the members have shown themselves so self-sacrificing and ambitious, that they should receive the greatest encouragement from the public. They have carefully prepared for the coming concert, and have called to their assistance Dr. C. T. Barnes, the pet tenor of Chicago; Miss Izzie Gibbs, of Worcester, Mass., who is a pianist of acknowledged superiority; Prof. J. Lueders, of Madison, with whose violin solos our people were charmed a few weeks ago; Mrs. J. W. St. John, who needs no commendation as a soprano singer; Prof. C. G. Titcomb, who is also popularly known in all the regions about as a pianist and accompanist, and Mr. S. Kent, as cornet soloist. With such an array of talent it is needless to urge the general attendance of the public. The entertainment speaks for itself as one of rare merit, and the low price at which the tickets have been placed, makes it within the financial reach of all.

THE CAPTURED GUARDS.

Sixteen of the Janesville Guards under the command of Captain Croft were "sleighed" last evening. Their trip to Rockford was made on quick time, one of Carter's four-horse rigs pulling them over the thirty-two miles in three and a half hours, exclusive of a half-hour's stop in Beloit. Arriving in Rockford at half-past six o'clock they proceeded to the hotel, where a hot and bountiful feed was in readiness for them. Captain Tom Lawler, of the Rockford Rifles, together with his men, gave the other Captain Tom and his Guards a cordial reception, and as soon as the travelers had got the icicles melted off their noses, and their ears thawed out, took them over to the armory, where the Rifles went through an exhibition drill. Besides the Guards there were a large number of the elite of Rockford to witness this showing of military skill. The Rifles showed a remarkable degree of proficiency, and besides the more ordinary movements, gave some fancy work in the way of skirmish drill, bayonet exercise, and rallying by fours, platoons etc. Colonel Brazel, who is in command of the Third Regiment, to which the Rifles belong, was present, and did all in his power to make the Guards completely happy. The Rifles have a male quartet, which is immense. They sang several jolly songs among them being one giving a facetious account of the Rifles' experience in putting down the miners' riot at Braidwood. After the drill was over, and the soldier boys were left in possession of the armory, all hands went in for a jolly, good time, all formality being laid aside. The Rifles, after more songs, and other features of a joyous "hurrah boys," led the Guards out to a neighboring restaurant, filled them up with oysters, and all the participants being temperately inclined, they proceeded to the water works. The engineer courteously explained to the visitors all the workings of the system, and set the rotary pumps in motion just to show them what sort of a racket there was in progress. On leaving the water-works, the moon was so bright that all marched to the new court house, and gazed upon that building, after which they tumbled into the sleigh, and headed for home. The Guards say the Rifles are the jolliest, and most open hearted soldier boys they have had the pleasure of running against, and the way the Rifles used their guests will insure for them a most hearty welcome the next time they visit Janesville.
